

ALC Legal Technologies Named Top 20 Electronic Discovery Service Providers in the prestigious 2008 Socha-Gelbmann Electronic Discovery Survey Report

Ranking validates ALC's reputation as top electronic discovery service provider to the legal industry

SEATTLE, WA - AUGUST 5, 2008 - ALC Legal Technologies (ALC) announced today that it has been named one of the top 20 electronic service providers to the legal industry in the prestigious Socha-Gelbmann Survey Report. The 2008 Survey examines the state of electronic discovery in 2007, compares this year's results with results from the preceding five years, and makes projections for 2008 through 2009. This marks the first time ALC has been included and ranked in this survey, which is used by law firms, corporate counsel, and executives to help drive purchase decisions when searching for the best firms to manage litigation support services. ALC earned its ranking as one of the top 20 Electronic Discovery Service providers in the Corporate Rankings category. This category includes the assessment from actual clients that use ALC.

"We are honored to be ranked so highly in our first year in the survey," said Stefan Wikstrom, Founder and CEO of ALC Legal Technologies. "This provides us an opportunity to showcase what our clients have known about our firm for the past 12 years – ALC Legal Technologies is committed to providing world-class service and settles for nothing less than total satisfaction with our clients. We anticipate moving up the rankings in coming years."

"This is an impressive showing for ALC Legal Technologies," said George J. Socha, Jr., Esq., Founder Socha Consulting LLC. "They are one of the firms that are successfully making the transition from the old paper-only service world into the new era of electronic data services. We look forward to tracking their growth and progress in the future.”

The Annual Socha-Gelbmann Electronic Discovery Survey Report provides the most comprehensive view of the legal services industry, by carefully examining the state of electronic discovery; the rankings are based on a detailed evaluation of more than 350 qualitative and quantitative factors. The survey comprises data from more than 155 organizations on the forefront of e-discovery, including leading law firms and Fortune 1000 inside counsel.

ABOUT ALC LEGAL TECHNOLOGIES

ALC Legal Technologies is an industry leading document and data services company providing innovative software solutions, state-of-the-art hardware technologies, and highly experienced personnel to deliver top quality and consistent results to the legal and corporate communities. The company provides products and services across several disciplines; including Consulting & Project Management, Electronic Discovery, Repository/Hosting, Imaging, and Traditional Reprographics.

ALC supports clients throughout the US and internationally, through its six offices – Seattle, San Francisco, Palo Alto, San Diego, Phoenix and Austin.

MEDIA CONTACT:

David R. Kaufer
Director of Marketing
206.521.8717
david@alcweb.com